er of Park street.

A transfer affecting one of the long established restaurants in Barre will become effective Monday when Alfred Ger-betti takes over the interest hitherto held by Alderman Duncan J. McMillan in Jack's restaurant, Depot square. Alderman McMillan disposes of his interest in order to devote his undivided attention to other affairs. Mr. Gerbetti is a well known young man of Barre and his active co-operation in the conduct of the concern's business will begin Monday morning. Hereafter the restaurant will continue under the firm name of Petrie & Gerbetti.

Yesterday's mail carried to hundreds of voters, including women, in Barre a message from the Barre & Montpelier Traction & Power Co., in the form of a brochure on traction matters. Naturally the subject matter is very largely concerned with franchises, and that the voters called together in a special city meeting next Wednesday evening may act more intelligently in the matter of granting or refusing the company a new franchise, both the old and the proposed new franchise are included in the booklet. An explanatory preface purports to set forth the reasons why the citizens should vote to exchange the present franchise for the one which the city council adopted by a close vote a few months ago. Many of the arguments used effectively in hearings before the council, preparatory to its adoption by that body, are set forth.

Two Burlington boys, Amos Lajoie, aged 18, and Nelson Godbout, aged 19, were detained by the police last night at the request of Sheriff F. H. Tracy. The youngsters were found at the Central Vermont station, and when an officer questioned them concerning their plans, they stated that they were leaving within the hour for New Hampshire. Instead of crossing the Connecticut river, the lads crossed Depot square in the custody of the policeman, and later they were locked up at police headquarters for safekeeping. According to information received from the county sheriff, Lajoie and Godbout obtained a mileage from a Burlington employment bureau Tuesday on the strength of their promise that they would go directly to Middlesex and begin work in the woods. It is alleged that the boys did not stop at Mid-dlessex, but continued their journey to Montpelier, where the mileage, it is said, was sold Wednesday. Chief Sinclair was advised that the pair had left the capital for Barre and it was soon after their arrival here that they were arrested.

Papers were passed yesterday at the office of the D. A. Perry Real Estate agency consummating the sale of the farm in Brookfield which the firm sold for Octave H. Duchaine and wife at auction last Saturday, the purchaser being E. N. Coffin of this city. The property contains about 35 acres of land and is located near East Brookfield. It is known as the Price or Newell farm. Mr.
Coffin plans to take possession about the first of May.

The D. A. Perry Real Estate agency has sold for Gordon B. Robinson and wife of East Montpelier their home farm, known as the Phil Batchelder property, to J. W. Paine of Haverhill, Mass., who purchases for a home and takes immediate possession. Mr. Paine is a former resident of Barre and during his residence in this section was considered one of the most successful farmers. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are to move to the city to reside at an early date. Mr. Robinson being employed at the Jones Bros. shed.

Intensive training for the minstrel troupe is the order of the day at Goddard seminary, where interest is being centered on the show to be staged in the chapel on the evening of Thursday, March 28. Two shows are in prospect for patrons of Goddard minstrelsy, as both the boys and the girls, each with their own local hits, gags and solo numbers, have arranged separate programs to be given on the same evening. Misses Morse and Bulkeley are in charge of the girl minstrel and Prin. O. K. Hollister and Mr. Barker are training the boy performers.
